Update on plans to replace Colton sewage pumping station

I'm writing to update you about our survey and investigation work that will help us to design a scheme to reduce sewer flooding the Colton area.

Survey results are still being reviewed and these will help us to understand the sewer network and establish if any further work in addition to replacing Colton sewage pumping station needs to be carried out.

Following the submission of our planning application for the new pumping station to North Yorkshire County Council we'll soon be starting some preparatory works.

We're doing this with the agreement of the Planning Authority and the landowner. Work will involve removing 21 metres of hedgerow on the field boundary as shown by the red line on the map below. This will be replaced with a stockproof fence.

Craven Forestry will be doing this work for us on Thursday 25th February 2021; they'll be working between 9am and 4pm and all work will be completed that day.

We're continuing to liaise with the Planning Authority and working to answer their questions about our proposals. If planning approval is granted, we expect to start work on the new pumping station in the summer; once I have more information about this I'll write to you again before any work starts.

In the meantime, if you've any questions please contact our customer experience team on 0344 848 1099 (Monday to Thursday 8am to 5.30pm and 8am to 5pm on Friday) and quote reference Capital YW.201099.

Yours sincerely
